"I learned valuable skills— clear criticism, the ability to write a good essay off the cuff, and clear thinking thanks to lack of academic pressure. Unlike in the States, it was a question of quality over quantity, contemplation over cramming."

"Beyond the obvious academic challenges, the opportunities presented by Gordonstoun are enormous. I have volunteered to help build a school in central India over the Christmas holiday and signed up to build gardens in the Sinai desert this coming May."

"I have experienced many personal revelations, many of which only came to light since I've been on my own in a totally different environment. I have since refined my goals and discovered the direction I want my life to take."
